Philadelphians Present Resolutions and the

Kansas City Blaine Club Calls.

The receptions at General Harrison's house were begun somewhat earlier than usual yesterday, by the presentation of a series of resolutions adopted by the West Philadelphia club.

Mr. Francis Tracy Tobin made the presentation, assuring General Harrison at the same time that the Republican party in his State is in a better condition than it has ever been. Mr. Tobin's call was immediately followed by that of the Kansas City Blaine Club, which was on its way

East to take a part in the great New York demonstration in honor of the Maine statesman.

There were one hundred members of the club

present, and they were traveling on a special train, under the charge of Mr. H. C. Orr, passenger agent of the Hannibal & St. Jo railroad.

The visitors remained about four hours in the city, this time being set apart on the journey

Colonel R. H. Hunt led the delegation to the General's residence, when he said to him:

"This band of enthusiastic political pilgrims from Kansas City have come to this Mecca to pay the tribute of their allegiance to you as their leader, and the exponent of their political principles, which we believe are calculated to pro-this earth. We assure you, sir, in the name of the best Republicans of our section, of their hearty and enthusiastic support. And I take the liberty, as an Irish-American, to assure you of the enthusiasm your name inspires among the citizens of my nationality. They congratu-late themselves that the purity of your private character leaves nothing for the common enemy to attack but our political creed, and this, we feel, is an impregnable bulwark. Missouri is for you now with the greatest enthusiasm. Missouri has been bedridden for years with the old-time, ignorant, slave-holding Democracy, but before another winter, if not entirely well,

she will at least be convalescent."

When Colonel Hunt had concluded his remarks he introduced Miss Abbie Burgess, who presented the General an elegant badge, on which was inscribed, "The Kansas City Blaine Ciub Greet their Next President. August, 1888." The presentation by Miss Burgess was made in the name of the working women of America, who, she said, "are grateful for the industrial protection that enables them to earn better wages than can be obtained by their more unfortunate sisters in Europe."

General Harrison responded briefly to these addresses. He said that he found that he had been talking a great deal lately, "but," he added, "I never begin it. Some one else always starts it." He returned his cordial thanks to the visitors for the compliment of their call.

Speaking of the trip which the visitors were making, he commended its purpose in meeting upon his return to America that matchless de-fender of Republican principles James G. Blaine. He felt sure that no circumstance would be omitted in doing him merited honor.

He was glad to know that the Republicans of Missouri are so zealous and aggressive. He be-lieved that they had, perhaps, too much ac-quiesced in the majorities against them, and had not offered such resistance as would prove their own strength. In the coming canvass he dices there. He also expressed the hope that the race question would cease to divide men by prejudices that should long ago have become ex-

In reply to Miss Burgess's remarks, General

Harrison said that he gratefully appreciated the badge that had been presented him, and thought the women of the land could never be forgotten. "They are," he said, "in the homes as mothers,

After spending some time agreeably at the house, the visitors returned to their train and County Board of Education. The county Board of Education met in County Superintendent Flick's office yesterday, and transacted considerable business pertaining to the county schools. All the trustees were present but Many and Mathews. The subject of attendance was discussed, and resulted in the superintendent appointing Messrs. Boland and Furnas as a committee to report upon a plan at the September meeting, by which better attendance could be secured. The question of changing the course of study was considered, and the superintendent was empowered to make such changes in the present course as he deemed advisable. Mr. Flick also appointed the followine committee to revise the course of study in the county high-schools: Horace Ellis, Bright-wood; E. L. Mills, West Newton; J. L. Puewthe, Broad Ripple, and William Mather, North Indianapolis. It was decided that the township institutes should be conducted on the same plan as last year, and the conducting of reading circles was left to the township institutes. The next meeting of the board will be held Sept.

1. The annual county institute begins the Zith inst. and will continue one week. Super intendent Flick has secured some able instructors, and expects to make the institute the most interesting one ever held in the county.

WHAT WAS DONE IN COUNCIL

A Memorial on the Death of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan Is Read and Adopted.

The Vexations Street Car Question Appears Again on a Motion to Have the Dudley Company to Take Up Tracks.

The Council was in session four hours last night, and although a great deal of time was consumed in unprofitable debate, considerable business of minor importance was transacted. After spending an hour in opening a hundred or more sealed proposals for street improvements, the committee on contracts submitted a report on the bids for doing the city advertising for the ensuing year. Two were presented, one from the Sentinel, proposing to do the work for 25 cents per square, and one from the Weekly Gazette, offering to do it at 124 cents. Councilmen Darnell and McClelland, of the committee recommended that the contract be awarded to the Gazette. Councilman Stuckmeyer signed a minority report, recommending that it be given to the Sentinel. He objected to the Gazette because, as he alleged, it was not a union office, and was not a paper of general circulation. Councilman Darnell then presented a communication from both the Typographical Union and the Pressmen's Union stating that the Gazette was a union office. The communication from the last-named union was signed by John Bodenmiller, president, and the one from the Typographical by the committee that was appointed to protest against the Gazette having the contract. Mr. Darnell also charged that Councilman Stuckmeyer favored the Sentinel because it was a Democratic paper, and that he had refused to attend a meeting of the committee when the bids were considered. The bids were generally discussed, all the Democrats favoring the Sentinel, notwithstanding its bid was double that of the Gazette. Councilman Pearson urged that no politics should enter into such important business. He said he had, in the past, twice voted to award the contract to the Sentinel, when the Republican paper was bidding, because the Sentinel was one or two cents lower. At the conclusion of the discussion Councilman McClelland moved to lay the minority report upon the table. The yeas and nays were called for, and the report was tabled. Every Democrat but Johnston voted in the negative, and every Republican in the affirmative. The contract was then awarded to the Gazette by the same vote.

When reports from city officers were called for Mayor Denny read the following: To the Common Council and Board of Aldermen: Gentlemen-Philip H. Sheridan, General of the Army of the United States, died at Nonquitt, Mass.,

Army of the United States, died at Nonquitt, Mass., yesterday, after a lingering illness. The flags have already been displayed at half-mast on the city buildings, but it seems to me that more notice than this should be given to this sad event by the city's representatives. General Sheridan was born of very humble parents, and even the place of his birth has never been definitely settled. But whether he first saw the light on this or the other side of the Atlantic, he was every whit an American from the hour the he was every whit an American from the hour the public first learned of him. He fought her battles bravely and gloriously. He earned every star he received, and richly deserved the last great honor done him by Congress. As a slight token of the esteem we bear to his memory, and of the love cherished for him by our fellow-citizens who followed him to victory on many of the hard-fought fields of the rebellion, I respectfully suggest the adoption of the memorial and resolutions herewith submitted.

C. S. DENNY, Mayor.

C. S. DENNY, Mayor. The city clerk then read the following:

We have heard with deep sorrow of the death of General Philip H. Sheridan. He was a model soldier General Philip H. Sheridan. He was a model soldier and a true patriot. He possessed one element of the true soldier in a marked degree, which is too often lacking in those who are suddenly elevated to high rank and power. He knew how to meekly obey as well as to sternly command. He never thrust himself forward or courted promotion. The praise of his soldiers over a brave act done, or a wise command given, was dearer music to him than the announcement of a new star added to his shoulder from the War Department.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the widow and

We extend our deepest sympathy to the widow and family of this great soldier and patriotic citizen, and mourn with them the country's loss in his death.

Resolved, That the city clerk be directed to send, under the seal of the city, a copy of this memorial to the widow of the deceased.

On motion of Councilman Thalman, the memorial was adopted by a rising vote, which was done unanimously.

The city treasurer made the following report of the receipts and expenditures for the month of July: Balance on hand at first of month......$32,926.57 Councilman Thalman, chairman of the committee on finance, presented a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the city to borrow such sums of money as are necessary to run the city during the months of August and Septem-

Resolved, That the street commissioner be and is hereby directed to notify said company at once to stop digging up the streets of the city, or any part thereof, and to immediately remove all ties, rails and others obstructions which they may have placed in the streets, or any part thereof, and to put in good condition all the streets, or parts of streets, which they have dug up. Upon the tailure of such company, officers or agents to comply with such notice at once,

Councilman Markey presented a petition signed by 160 residents of Madison avenue, esking that the resolution be passed. He stated that both the Citizens' and Ducley company were laying tracks on the avenue yesterday, and that in some places four tracks had been put down, so obstructing the street that it was impossible to use them.

Councilmen Cummings, Gasper, Smith, Thal-man and others opposed the resolution. Councilman Thalman thought it would be dangerous for the Council to pass the resolution. The city had granted the company a charter and be believed the city would be liable for damages in stopping the company from work.

Councilman Darnell believed the city could stop the company from tearing up the streets without laying itself liable. The Superior Court had decided that the company was not legally incorporated. That was law for Indianapolis ustil the Supreme Court had said was not, and the company could certainly have no recourse for damages. After nearly all the councilmen had expressed themselves, Councilman Thalman moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on streets and alleys and city attorney, with power to enforce it in case it was decided that there

Nays-Cummings, Davis, Dunn. Long, McClelland, Smith, Thalman, Trusler and Wilson. Superintendent Galbraith.

The recent discharge of employes at the Insane Asylum promises to lead to serious differences between the members of the board themselves and with Superintendent Galbraith. The dismissal of Dr. Howard, particularly, bids fair to give those who were responsible for it considerable trouble. Trustee Gapen and Howard were firm friends, and Gapen therefore opposed the Doctor's discharge, and ever since it occurred Le has been threatening to make Superintendent Galbraith, whom he had reason to believe was the cause of the dismissal, regret the action. Dr. Howard has also shown a disposition to strike back, and the superintendent and other officials who have been running the institution in a high-handed way will doubtless find he has sufficient evidence to bring about turmoil in the Democratic camp. The first step in this direction was taken yes terday by Gapen baving the State, through the Attorney-general, bring a suit against Superintendent Galbraith for $500, which it is alleged he owes the State for board for a woman he has in his family. All the members of the board are made plaintiffs in the suit. The statutes direct that no member of the family of the superintendent of the hospital, or of any subordinate officer, not employed in the hospital, except the wife and children of such officers, shall be kept or maintained at the institution, unless the State is paid for their maintenance. The complaint alleges that Superintendent Galbraith has as a member of his family a woman named Wilda Price, who has been there since he became superintendent. She has never been employed at the asylum, and it is further alleged that when Galbraith was appointed he gave bond to perform his duties according to the law. It charged that in keeping the woman there he has violated his bond. The trustees say that $500 would be a reasonable sum to pay the State for Mrs. Price's board, and they allege that the superintendent has refused to pay anything, although asked to do so. It is said that the abuse cited above is of minor importance as compared with some that Dr. Howard can point out, and there is a belief that unles Trustee Gapen is given permission to reinstate Howard or accorded some other privileges, he will have some more suits to file.

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, mussins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.
